

Christina Cosmeceuticals Launches in the U.S.

Christina Cosmeceuticals, an Israeli-based professional cosmeceutical company, is now available to estheticians in the U.S. Creator Christina Zehavi and her team of scientists has worked together to offer synergy between in-spa treatments and at-home treatment products. The Christina collection offers seven multi-stage professional treatments accompanied by a selection of homecare products to enhance results. The collections include: Unstress, which addresses irritation and puffiness; Forever Young, which helps skin retain a youthful glow and young appearance lost through the aging process; Wish, which uses advanced scientific ingredients known to slow the aging process and help to repair damage, resulting in restoring the look of younger skin texture and radiance; Silk, which helps lift and firm skin for immediate visible results; FluorOxygen+C, which helps reverse the signs of environmental sun damage; Comodex, which is formulated for combination and oily skin to help prevent and heal damage; and Rose de Mer, which helps refine skin texture. ●

SpaRitual Visits TreePeople Organization

In an effort to reach out to the local community, members of the SpaRitual team visited Los Angeles-based TreePeople, which is an environmental nonprofit organization that helps grow the urban forest and aims to unite the power of trees, people, and technology to grow a sustainable future for the city. In addition to hands-on activities, team members learned about people's physical impact on the environment. ●
